The State Department spokesman, Mr. Lincoln White, said the Soviet Union was continuing to send military supplies to Syria despite the U.N. resolution earlier this month opposing the introduction of arms into the Middle East.

He said the Syrians were receiving amall arms lorries and other supplies, but he did not know at present if major items of military equipment such as MIG fighters were included in the shipments.

Mr. White told reporters he had "no specific details" of French reports that the Soviet Union was sending two shiploads of arms a week to Syria.

Meanwhile, Premier Sabri Assali of Syria has promised Parliament a full statement on charges that Iraq had sent large quantities of arms into the country to cause trouble.

Assali made his promise at a parliamentary meeting last night during which deputies heatedly attacked the Iraqi Government. An independent deputy, Abdul Areza, arged Syria to sever diplomatic relations with Iraq.

Meanwhile, 12 Syrian M.P.'s belonging to the Democratic Bioc walked out of the group

Rough and ready conditions approximating those of a field incampment prevail in the transit cage, whereas facilities in the permanent camp are rapidly approaching those of normal barracks.

Dr. Guilland has bought a ping-pong table and football kit for the main eamp, besides ordering copies of the Koran and Arabic records from Cairo. Coptic prisoners asked him for Arabic Bibles, which the Y.M.C.A. has already donated. After the Israel forces swept towards the Suez Canal, Mr. Lloyd said France and Britain had to act within a matter of hours "without having the time for the consultation which we should like to have had with our friends. We acted because we feared that the war would spread. We acted, as some may think, harshly, but by the action we took we believed that we saved tens of thousands of casualties throughout the Middle East and the possibility of a much wider war. The result of our action was to stop a small war and to unmask the extent of Soviet infiltration. VEHICLE NEAR HULA and a totalitarian government which robs them of their rights because their suffering will distress Israel has offended against the basic principles of the U.N. charter, and must be told to cease this action. That the U.N. should be told to cease this action. That the U.N. should be held up to mockery by the Soviet Union over Hungary was perhaps unavoidable, for Russia has a veto and is accustomed to using it in her own defence. Yet the spectacle of Egyptian derision as the U.N. Secretary-General singlemindedly pursues French and British forces in Port Said while all around him Egyptian citizens of the Jewish faith are being hounded into concentration camps is grotesque and tragic. At the very least, it will persuade all the small countries in the world, who had hoped to vest their security in the U.N., that there is no protection there for the weak, but only for the strong, and that they must turn back to pacts and agreements, power politics and existence as satellites.

Jews have before reached security in Israel. However greatly the individual families now uprooted in Egypt may suffer for a period of time, it is the future of the U.N. as an organisation protecting human rights that is at stake.

Maintenance Worries

The heroes of this southward march were the mechanics. Working day and night, they saved all but ten vehicles, which were so badly damaged that they had to be junked and their parts used as spares for other vehicles. The Egyptians knew of the column early enough, for one of its detachments met an Egyptian camel patrol near Wadi Catarina. The garrison of Dahab, on the coast, must have been informed, for the landing strip were deserted. Fuel was brought in by the Navy, and a Piper Cub brought in early and was a turday, and the news was good.

However, it was at Dahab that the force suffered its first casualties. Soldiers who

HARD ON FAMILIES

Biliter, The Jerusalem Post
Sit, — It has always been my contention that our Government and public bodies pay mainly lip service to the consideration of the big-family's heightened difficulties. Whenever we face new difficulties, where we face new difficulties, the big family is always hit hardest, be it increased prices (indirect taxes) of consumer goods, of education fees, or, as in this instance, electricity outs.

Why should a small family of only two be allowed the same consumption for the bathroom holier as a family of only two be allowed the same consumption for the bathroom holier as a family of five and more? As compared with twe growning three children alone need thrice as much warm water for washing and bathing purposes. I have three children one does his home work, one listens to the wireless and the third plays, how are they extended to the first ages.
